

BIO: Chet Namboodri, SVP Global Strategic Alliances

Chet brings passion and more than two decades of cross-functional, multi-industry leadership and expertise with Industrial/IoT Automation Control Systems, Networking and Cyber Security to his role of Senior VP of Business Development (BD) and Alliances at Nozomi Networks. Chet focuses his extensive experience, expertise, and win-win leadership on critical infrastructure sectors to develop and manage Nozomi Networks' strategic alliances, including federal government partners and resellers.

Prior to Nozomi Networks, Chet held a variety of executive roles with industry solutions BD, marketing and sales at Cisco Systems, driving market leadership of industrial networking for Cisco. Previously, he led growth and profitability for GE's industrial, lighting, controls and automation software businesses from a variety of positions including Shop Ops, Engineering, Product Management, Six Sigma, BD and Marketing.

Chet has earned a Master's from Virginia Tech and a Bachelor's in Mechanical Engineering from Clemson University. He currently lives in North Carolina with his lovely wife and three daughters.